Summer is finally here! It is a time to rest and relax. It is also a time to enjoy the many benefits of reading and discovering books. This year Fayette Academy is encouraging students to read over the summer break. Rising Third Grade Students are required to read "Freckle Juice" by Judy Blume. After reading this book, they should complete the attached Book Report Form. This assignment is due the first day of school. It will be the first reading grade recorded for the new school year. Students are also required to read an additional 3 books. A reading log is provided for recording books as they are read. It is suggested that parents monitor and aid children in recording their reading accomplishments. The log is due on the first day of school.

We have included a suggested reading list that includes series, titles, authors, and topics. Choosing books and topics from this list can help students build background knowledge about future third grade lessons.

The required book is listed below and suggested series, titles, authors, and topics are listed on the following page.

Please, remember that research indicates that reading over extended breaks, such as summer, helps children retain the information learned in the prior school year and prepares them for the upcoming grade level.
